

Non-Profit Law

HeplerBroom's Non-Profit Law Team provides sophisticated guidance on tax-exemption, structuring of governing bodies, drafting bylaws, defining donor services, and implementing best policies, procedures, and practices. Our team has the requisite tax, corporate, and regulatory experience to guide non-profit organizations in all aspects of their legal needs.

Our goal: To help clients establish strong, long-lasting charitable institutions

We have successfully represented charitable institutions nationwide, including those with international operations. Our clients have included non-profit schools, religious institutions, social service agencies, disaster relief organizations, and private foundations focused on carrying out personal philanthropic goals.

Clients

- Non-profit schools
- Religious institutions
- Social service agencies
- Disaster relief organizations
- Private foundations focused on carrying out personal philanthropic goals

Services

- Complete and file federal and state tax-exemption applications and registrations
- Establish 501(c)(2) title holding companies, endowments, and supporting organizations
- Negotiate and review business-to-business contracts
- Draft memorandums of understanding between international charitable organizations
- Obtain property tax exemptions for real estate owned by non-profits
- Draft governing documents (e.g., constitutions, bylaws, operation manuals)
- Train non-profit boards on governance, best practices, and legal obligations
- Navigate and resolve board disputes
- Provide guidance on tax deductions, tax receipts, and best practices
- Handle litigation regarding activities and operations, board (directors/officers) liability, and insurance-related matters

The choice of a lawyer is an important decision and should not be based solely upon advertisements

www.heplerbroom.com