

Johnson Moderating Panel for Insurance Coverage Fellows

APRIL 20, 2023 | SPEAKING ENGAGEMENT

On April 20, Amy Johnson will be moderating a panel of Fellows of the American College of Coverage Counsel. The three panelists will discuss an ongoing revision to the chapter on Bad-Faith Performance of First-Party Insurance Contracts in the American Law Institute's Restatement Third of Torts project.

Johnson, a partner in the firm's Chicago office, focuses her practice on insurance law, personal injury, and property damage as well as cybersecurity, premises liability, and appellate law. She is also a certified mediator with a strong track record in both corporate and private practice. Johnson has 20 years of experience mitigating risk on coverage issues and high exposure or bad faith claims, including a successful appeal record.
